a Christian in faith
action

Every year our Board of Directors have an interview with our newly elected prefect body. They ask the student leaders what they believe is the stand-out feature of our school. Year after year, the students testify about the caring relationships that the teachers develop with them, and the example that they provide.

a Christian in faith action

This points to a compelling evidence of our role as a discipleship school, something which we strive to maintain and enhance. We're regularly asking the question "does 'how' we do school allow us to disciple students"?

We're wanting to portray the Christian faith not as a protection from an evil, dangerous world but we're wanting to model and coach a Christian faith that has meaning and application, mission and purpose in every field of endeavour. A Christian faith that patterns and renews the things of this world; not a faith that puts us in another world entirely.

Dan Egeler, the President of ACSI argues that too many parents regard choosing between Christian schooling or secular schooling in the same way as they regard choosing between bottled water or tap water. "Water may be water, but education is not education" says Dr. Egeler.

"Recognizing what the Lord may have for your family is critical to children not being blown around like a feather in the wind. You, as a parent, must point the fan. Choosing your education is like choosing your spouse. You don't choose your spouse because of convenience. You choose your spouse out of mission and purpose. My challenge to you is that your children's education is no different."

A21 WALK FOR FREEDOM

"A21" is an organization that seeks to end human trafficking in the 21st century. Human trafficking is the fastest growing crime in the world affecting 27 million men, women and children being held captive. In an effort to help raise awareness for this crime, we participated in one of 300 #WalkForFreedom campaigns worldwide. This was a great experience for many of us as we form part of a group responsible for change around the world.

The campaign occurs annually with next year's taking place on 14 October 2017.

A special thanks to Mrs Mandy Murugan, who helped organize the participation of our school in the campaign as well as making sure that we were safe on the day.

RACA EISTEDDFOD TOP ACHIEVERS

Left: Lee'andra Camacho (Grade 7) right: Kim Peverett (Grade 1) were both awarded 100% for their Dramatical Monologues at the RACA Eisteddfod 2016.

They both received a beautiful certificate (as the Category/Item

Keep up the great work girls! We are very proud of you.

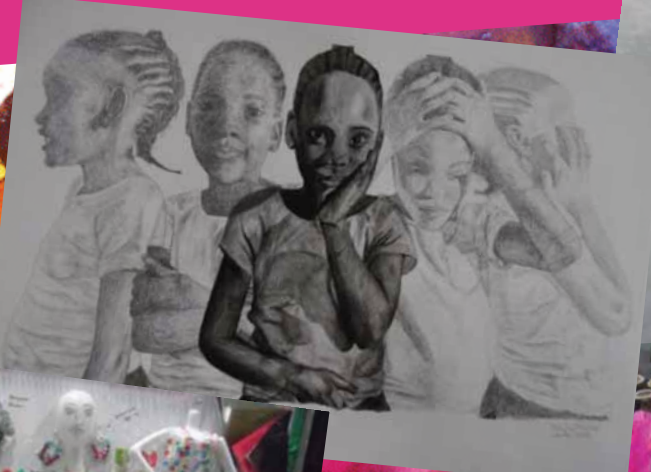

ART EXHIBITION

TKSWR hosted it's annual Art Exhibition last week.

Every learner in the school was represented – making this event a whole-school affair! The hall was transformed into a colourful, creative hub of drawing, painting, collage and sculpture. Parents enjoyed viewing the artwork on the Gala Evening on 25 October and the exhibition lasted until 27 October.

This celebration of artwork is always a reminder of God's masterpiece in each and every learner, and the gifts He has given them.
