NECESSARY SKILLS IN A CHANGING

In a world where robots are being designed to do much of the work, what must our kids be mastering at school to ensure that they will emerge as highly employable graduates? I would like us to encourage our youngsters to be developing skills of metacognition rather than just skills of cognition. Here's a simple graphic that describes what is meant by metacognition [See Below].

Both in class time and when students are studying, they need to be encouraged to really grapple with concepts, turn them inside out, look at them from different angles, consider how they may be applied, use information for problem solving, make inferences and deductions, examine feelings, passions, desires in the area of study, and consider how redemptive solutions can be found in areas of brokenness.

When students can practice and eventually master such skills, they will be able to call to action these skills in multiple different settings and vocations. Please encourage your child to be asking questions like this to maximise their learning.

OUTREACH

The King's School West Rand joined GOMA (Clete Stevis) in an outreach to the community of Zenzele informal settlement.

We took hands with local church leaders, Pastor Thomas and his team at JLCC. What a wonderful day of serving and being served.

Probably over 200 people were fed. The Holy Spirit led us in a different direction than what we had planned.

The gospel of Jesus was preached & shared with the community. Lives were changed and set free by the power of God.

Children received love and goodies and climbed into everyone's heart. We truly give God all the glory.
